Let go

Let him go

He once promised her to stay
And now he wants to go away

She doesn't know what she did wrong
That he thinks he doesn't belong

She has no idea what to say
That'll convince him to stay

She cannot let him go

Let her go

He once promised her to stay
And now he wants to go away

He knows she did nothing wrong
He just thinks he doesn't belong

There's nothing he can say
To make her be okay

He has to let her go

Let it go

As her cat I don't understand
Why they have that argument

For me everything is fine
As long as she fills that bowl of mine

I'll help her get over it
If she provides a warm lap to sit

She can even strike my fur
Then I'll emit a comfy purr

Let go
