Kapitel 3: The wise advices i can't remember

23 05 1998

Dear, Azuela.

Thank you for all your letters.

I'm kind of irritated by your name. Still. It doesn't sound familiar to me. Where do you come from? Are your parents from an exotic land out of Europe? Or is it just a thing about being super original ... you know, I'm a nurse and there are children with crazy names like Cloud oder Cosma.

I just want that you understand my feelings also, because the topic about HIM is still sensitive and hard for me..I am not a neutral person to read about your relationship with him.....it still hurts me so much maybe you imagine this cruel feeling :(

I can say you this cause i trust you so i warn you

he's a liar and a player

i would be careful

You think you can get the control of it but do the best thing for u it is your life and your future. With or without him. I choose to let him go. He's like a wild animal which just doesn't belong to the zoo or circus but in wilderness

I wish you a lot of wisdom, to receive good decisions in your life. I think this letter for you at last winter time was really full of good advices, it depends just on you what are you going to do with all that problems..Dont let anyone to "destroy" you..you cant help for persons and especially guys like him if he doesnt want to help himself..and dont want to work with his vices..sometimes we have to go on our own way..and to discover important things takes time for each of us.

It is just my personal opinion, but..I dont think that do not go home before you start with work is good idea..just ask yourself what is value for you?your birthday is just once a year and its not like daily thing. It's your day. Your precious day...Our time on earth is limited so its necessary to use it wisely. My grandmother told me so

Just carry on and think positive.

we deserve to be happy

Greetings from rainy rainy wroclaw. Is this our summer??
