Title: Fundamental desires

Rating: PG

Theme: lust

Pairing: Sanada + your choice XD

When he walked in on them, Sanada just stared for a second, then (of course!) turned around and walked away. Really, it was not an uncommon incident to happen, but usually it wasn't him to be subjected to it, simply because he entered the locker room last most of the time. Still, he shouldn't be bothered. Still he was.

Sanada didn't succumb to his desires. He claimed he had a very firm grasp on them, on every single one. So why did it bother him? Lust was just another desire, and it was only natural to be triggered by such a view. Still the thought of what he had seen haunted him, renewing the desire each time it came to his mind.

He shook his head. He would just deal with it, and then get over it.

Or so he thought.
